

REVspot_30_20150526-h264

A sleek black and red toy car with a black windshield races along a black surface past a series of lighted towers resembling buildings. A red circle appears above the car with a red line connecting to it, and the car flashes a bright red, then zooms forward. A white and blue car with a black windshield races in alongside the black car.

ANNOUNCER: Introducing REV: one car, an artificially intelligent drone; the other, completely under your control.

A boy in a burgundy sweater holds a remote in both hands while another boy in a striped shirt and a girl in a brown jacket watch the cars behind him. The cars race through an industrial-looking room. The white car chases the black car, zooming forward as a digital animation of bright blue guns appears on it. The guns fire bright blue lasers at the black car. The black car spins and turns to face the white car. A digital animation of a bright red Gatling gun appears on the black car, and it returns fire. Bright red lasers hit the white car, which stops and turns.

ANNOUNCER: You do more than drive REV; you fight to survive. The REV drone knows where you are and when to strike.

The boy in the burgundy sweater grimaces as he swings the controller. He swipes his thumb over the controller, and the white car races forward. A series of shots reveal the two cars racing toward each other.

ANNOUNCER: The question is, how will you strike back? REV, driven for battle.

The white car suddenly hits a black and red R.E.V. smart ramp and flies through a series of digitally animated bright blue rings. The boy taps the controller with his thumb. The white car lands, and a series of bright blue rings surge out from underneath it, knocking back the black car.

Sounds of electronic whirring and crashing.

The boy high-fives the girl over his shoulder.

A hand holds a controller over the black car. The controller flashes with an animation of the car. The boy in the striped shirt holds up a controller. The two boys stare each other down.

ANNOUNCER: You can challenge the REV drone or battle against your friends.

The black car and the white car face each other in front of a R.E.V. box. Logos and text appear at the bottom of the screen.
